

THE LAST SIN

STUDY GUIDE

INGENIUM

INTRODUCTION

Someone has been unalived. Five suspects remain. Six weapons. Three crime scenes. And the truth is buried beneath a web of lies. Welcome to The Last Sin, where every alibi can be broken, every clue can deceive, and every answer leads you closer to the killer, or deeper into the trap. Inspired by Cluedo, teams must investigate, decode, and reconstruct a crime designed to mislead. Use your critical thinking and sharpen your observation: some clues lie between the lines, while others hide in plain sight. Follow the evidence, question every detail, and uncover the truth before someone else does.

ROUND 1: THE CRIME SCENE

Three rooms. Six weapons. One murdered victim. But only one room holds the truth. Teams enter three staged crime scenes, the Study, Living Room, and Dining Room, where hidden details and forensic clues conceal the reality of what happened. With the moved-body twist already in play, investigators must use sharp observation and critical thinking to determine the true scene of death.

Alongside their investigation, teams must decode six cryptic clues to identify the weapons hidden within the crime. Some clues lie between the lines, while others hide in plain sight. Examine, question, connect, and record your findings before time runs out.

ROUND 2: THE INTERROGATION

Five suspects. Five alibis. Countless lies. The investigation moves beyond the crime scene as five suspects enter the case, each carrying a motive, an alibi, and something to hide. But answers do not come freely. Teams must first hunt down and solve riddles scattered across campus to earn interrogation questions. Every question matters, and every answer could expose a contradiction.

Every clue has led here. Every lie must now be confronted. Teams must bring together the rooms, weapons, and testimonies to reconstruct the crime and uncover the final truth. Build your case, challenge your own assumptions, and decide exactly what happened, where it happened, how it happened, and whether a culprit exists at all.

The investigation ends with a written case theory followed by a live reconstruction before the judges. Your evidence must speak, your reasoning must hold, and your story must withstand scrutiny. In the final moments, there is nowhere left to hide. The truth is yours to prove.
